

FORDHAM--N. Y. U. ATHLETIC PEACE S EXTENDED TO ALL SPORTS

PAID OF BASEBALL GAMES SCHEDULED

Bronx Universities to Play Home and Home Games in Spring.

MAY LOCK IN BASKETBALL

Chances of Meeting Regarded Good, Although Schedules Are About Filled.

With the meeting between the Fordham and New York University football teams at Ohio Field on election day the two local schools will not only be resuming gridiron relations that were severed as long ago as 1904, but they will be sounding the first note in a program that is to make the Maroon and the Violet all year round rivals in all branches of intercollegiate athletic competition. This announcement was made last night at the Jesuit university.

Dates for home and home baseball games in the spring have already been agreed upon, and it is expected that in a very few days announcement will be made of arrangements for a meeting between the two schools on the basketball court during the coming winter. Fordham is anxious to see the game clinched and claims assurance from Al Nixon, graduate manager of the Maroon, that he will do everything he can to bring about the meeting. Unfortunately both basketball schedules are about made up, so it is fairly possible that there may be no Fordham-N. Y. U. game this season. In any event Fordham is sure that a game will be arranged for the 1923-1924 campaign.

Among the Maroon followers credit for the restoration of peace between the two Bronx institutions is being given to Frank Gargan, athletic director of Fordham. He was captain and star of the eleven coached by his brother, Howard, which, if not actually the best, was one of the most successful ever turned out at the Catholic school. His graduation was connected with the coaching staff at his alma mater and last year was placed in full charge of the squad at New York University. He is now returning to Fordham as athletic director. This fall he had a strong influence in bringing the old rivals together again.

The first of the baseball games in the spring will be played at Ohio Field April 14, the second being set for Fordham Field, May 12. However, in the meantime comes the football game a week from tomorrow, when the Maroon and the Violet will meet at Fordham and Tom Thorpe, head coaches at Fordham and N. Y. U. respectively, have promised their squads a busy week of preparation.

While the game itself is bound to stir the enthusiasm of the neighboring Bronx families, there hasn't as yet been a heap of speculation on the outcome. The Maroon, particularly in the game with Georgetown. At the close of that tussle the visitors led the field regarded as a highly overrated team. The real truth of it though was that Georgetown was not so much overrated as it was underrated. Fordham's weakness against Georgetown lay mostly in its tactics and the blunders counted heavily.

As for Gargan, his team has proved itself, particularly in the game with Georgetown. At the close of that tussle the visitors led the field regarded as a highly overrated team. The real truth of it though was that Georgetown was not so much overrated as it was underrated. Fordham's weakness against Georgetown lay mostly in its tactics and the blunders counted heavily.

John J. Fox was returned the winner of the Pastime Athletic Club's road walk race members decided to play the course in the Bronx yesterday. He won from Thomas Hickey, a veteran pedestrian, by thirty yards. W. Agnew followed at third, twelve yards ahead of Hickey. The distance was four and a quarter miles.
